

Help shape the new public open space at the Fleet Block!

March 17, 2026

Salt Lake City is in the early stages of planning future green space, gathering areas, and public amenities, including public art that reflects shared values of inclusion and belonging.

Join us to learn about early design ideas for the open space, how public art will be selected, and what's ahead for the full block. Your voice will help guide what this space becomes for the city.

When:

Tuesday, March 17
